Chris Weller

Chief Commercial Officer

Chris has extensive experience providing strategic direction and commercial functional leadership in the SME and financial services sector in the UK.

He began his career at GE Capital before going on to work for Tarmac, the construction materials company, to drive its commercial strategy alongside the integration of its sales teams during the subsequent joint venture with Lafarge.

Chris worked as both Commercial Director and Sales Director, Invoice Finance at Aldermore Bank and more recently as Commercial Director at Growth Street, the SME lender. At Growth Street he was responsible for commercial strategy and growth including functional leadership across marketing, sales and relationship management.

Chris has comprehensive knowledge and practical experience in sales and marketing strategy as well as in customer acquisition and growth strategies. He enjoys applying his knowledge and passion for combining technology and financial services to help SME businesses flourish.
